

ILS International Law and Practice Course 2019 - Lecture 6

The implication of the recently signed Singapore Mediation Convention for Australian practitioners

Join the International Law Section on 12 August in Sydney for another stimulating ILS International Law and Practice Course lecture. The Hon Roger Gyles AO QC will open the session and guest speaker Mary Walker will speak on the topic of 'The implication of the recently signed Singapore Mediation Convention for Australian practitioners', joined by panellists Tat Lim and Gary Birnberg.

"On 20 December 2018, the UN General Assembly adopted the Singapore Mediation Convention which comes into force once it is ratified by three countries. The signing ceremony of the Convention will be held in Singapore on 7 August 2019.

The Convention facilitates the enforcement of international settlement agreements resulting from mediation. The Convention allows parties to a settlement agreement reached at the conclusion of a mediation governed by the Convention to apply directly to the courts of a country which is a member state for enforcement."

This session will explore the technical aspects of the Convention, its application to cross-border commercial disputes and potential challenges to enforcement.

The Hon. Roger Gyles AO QC

The Honourable Roger Gyles AO QC spent 34 years at the Bar, 23 as a QC. He was President of the NSW Bar Association and the Australian Bar Association. He appeared in all Australian jurisdictions; in the courts of Singapore, Papua-New Guinea, Fiji and the Solomon Islands; and in the Privy Council. During his time at the Bar, he was a Royal Commissioner and a Special Prosecutor. He was a judge of the Federal Court of Australia for over 9 years. Since leaving the bench he has practiced as an arbitrator and mediator, conducted a number of inquiries and been the Commonwealth Independent National Security Legislation Monitor.

Mary Walker
